DESCRIPTION AND ASSUMPTIONS

STATE DESCRIPTION - LOUISIANA

The state of Louisiana consists of 64 parishes and has a total population of 4,219,973. With a total land area of 44,521 square miles (115,310 square kilometers), the state is relatively densely populated, at an average of 94.8 persons per square mile (36.6 per square kilometer) as compared to the national average of 70.2 persons per square mile. According to the 1990 federal census Louisiana was the twentieth most populous state in the country. Louisiana is a comparatively "young" state; the median age in 1990 was 31.0 years.

The state is located in the extreme south central part of the United States, bounded on the west by Texas, on the north by Arkansas, on the east and northeast by Mississippi and on the south by the Gulf of Mexico. The climate of Louisiana is determined mainly by the huge land mass to the north, its subtropical latitude, and the Gulf of Mexico to the south. Summertime temperatures range from 85 degrees F. to 65 degrees F. in the afternoons to 40 degrees F. to 50 degrees F. during early morning hours although higher and lower readings are often observed. Freezing temperatures are recorded on 30 to 40 days in North and Central Louisiana during an average year and on 10 to 35 days in the southern parishes. The annual average precipitation in Louisiana for 1990 was 59.3 inches.

The four most heavily populated parishes in the state are Orleans, Jefferson, East Baton Rouge, and Caddo. Besides being the most populous, Orleans is also the most urbanized (99.9 percent in 1980), the most densely populated (2,750.8 persons per square mile), and the smallest in land area (181 square miles). The largest parish in land area is Vernon with 1,329 square miles. Assumption parish has the largest percent of ruralized population (85.7 percent of the population lives outside urban centers).

Louisiana blends a wealth of historic charm, rich natural resources, and giant modern industries. Fertile soil, adequate rainfall, temperate climate, an ample and adaptable labor force, navigate waterways and excellent highway systems are factors basic to the state's wealth.

The southern section of Louisiana has many coastal marshes, bayous and generally low and flat terrain. The central portion is characterized by flat delta land suitable for agriculture. The northern part of the state is higher, with rolling hills and valleys. This variety of land types encourages an equally wide variety of both agricultural and industrial pursuits. The proximity of the state to the Gulf of Mexico and its strategic location at the mouth of the Mississippi River provide the necessary entrance and egress for worldwide commerce.

LOUISIANA BACKGROUND AND ASSUMPTIONS

Louisiana's 1990 unemployment rate averaged 6.2 percent, a decrease of 1.7 percent from the revised 1990 average of 7.9 percent. The national unemployment rate for 1990 stood at 5.5 percent, up from 5.3.

Total nonagricultural wage and salary employment was 1,593,800 for 1990, up from 1,538,500 for 1990. Employment in both the goods producing sector and service producing sector experienced increases. Two of the most important sectors in the Louisiana economy, the trade and service sectors sustained a growth in employment of 24,200 jobs from 1990 to 1990. The service sector has been the major source of growth between the two in recent years. This sector alone grew from 353,500 in employment to 374,200 over this period. Most of this increase can be attributed to the health care industry which increased 6,700 jobs since 1990. Employment in the wholesale and retail trade sector increased 3,500 jobs from 1990 to 1990. This growth has occurred exclusively in the retail trade part of this sector.

Another major industry sector, construction, experienced very good growth over this reporting period. From 1990 to 1990 there was an increase of 8,500 jobs. Employment increased in all areas of this sector with heavy construction, except building, accounting for the majority of the increase. This division increased 4,800 jobs.

Manufacturing followed with an employment increase from 176,300 in 1990 to 183,600 in 1990, or 7,300 jobs. Two sectors in manufacturing, chemicals and allied products and transportation equipment, constitute about 30 percent of its employment. The chemical industry increased 1,000 jobs since 1990 and has been the driving force behind the recovery that began in 1987. The transportation equipment industry has also enjoyed a nice recovery. Employment in this sector increased from 24,100 in 1990 to 25,000 over this reporting period. Another subsector in the manufacturing industry sustained a healthy growth in employment since 1990 and that is the apparel industry. Employment in this sector increased 1,100 jobs. Employment has been steadily increasing since 1986 due to the expansion of several plants in the area around Lafayette.

Other industries to show increases over this reporting period are mining (1,100 jobs); transportation, communications, and public utilities (2,500 jobs); and government (12,900 jobs). Mining employment is one of the most volatile areas in our state's economy. Oil and gas extraction is the primary subsector in this industry and fluctuations in employment in this area rely heavily on the movement of oil prices.

The only industry that decreased in employment over the 1990-1990 period was finance, insurance, and real estate. Employment fell from 80,000 to 78,800. This industry has continued this downward spiral since 1988 due to mergers and closures of financial institutions plus radical cutbacks in the real estate industry.

All labor market areas continued to show a decrease in unemployment since 1990. Alexandria had an unemployment rate for 1990 of 6.4 percent, down from 7.8 in 1989; Baton Rouge 5.4 down from 6.7; Houma-Thibodaux, 5.6, down from 7.5; Lafayette, 4.7, down from 6.7; Lake Charles, 6.5, down from 7.9; Monroe, 5.8, down from 7.3; New Orleans, 5.7, down from 7.1; and Shreveport, 6.7, down from 8.3.

The average weekly wage paid in manufacturing increased from $530.26 in 1990 to $548.32 in 1990.

Nonagricultural wage and salary employment has continued to grow through 1990. The recessionary period from 1982-87 has been long and deep, but there are signs of a long awaited recovery. After showing a loss of about 147,000 jobs during this period, the Louisiana economy began to grow again beginning at the end of 1987. Since that time, employment estimates have shown an increase of about 118,000 jobs or 7.8 percent. We are still below our 1981 peak employment, but Louisiana has experienced some very good growth and seems to be headed in the right direction.

POPULATION CHANGES IN LOUISIANA
1980 - 1990

According to the 1990 Census, population in Louisiana was 4,219,973. This is only a small increase of 13,661 since the 1980 Census figure of 4,206,312.

While Louisiana saw almost no growth during the last decade a handful of south Louisiana parishes blossomed. The latest parish data from the 1990 census shows that population grew by more than 10 percent in only a half dozen Louisiana parishes - most of them in south Louisiana.

St. Tammany Parish had the most growth with 30.3 percent, leaping from 110,869 to 144,508 people in the last decade.

The new 1990 figures show the top six parishes and their growth rates were St. Tammany, 30.3 percent; St. John, 25.3 percent; Livingston, 19.9 percent; Ascension, 16.3 percent; Vernon, 15.9 percent; and St. Charles, 13.9 percent.

The greatest growth took place in Parishes around Lafayette, Baton Rouge, New Orleans, and Houma-Thibodaux.

It seems both New Orleans and Jefferson Parish lost population to suburban neighbors like St. Tammany and St. Charles parishes. From the latest figures released by the Bureau of the Census, it appears clear that the southern parts of the state are growing more rapidly than north Louisiana.

When the state economy collapsed in the early 1980's, population growth in south Louisiana slowed but was still positive.

Seven parishes lost more than 10 percent of their populations during the 1980's. The parishes with the greatest loss during this ten year period were Madison, 20.6 percent; LaSalle, 19.7 percent; East Carroll, 17.5 percent; Tensas, 16.7 percent; Orleans, 10.9 percent; Sabine, 10.4 percent; and Red River, 10.0 percent.

An improved employment picture, as shown in our latest nonagricultural wage and salary employment estimates, should lead to a slow down in the very significant out-migration of people from Louisiana and stop the population decline we have seen over the last decade.

Louisiana is one of the 51 states in the United States. (The district of Columbia is included for ranking purposes.) Its 1990 population of 4,382,500 ranked 20th in the nation.

In 1990, Louisiana had a per capita personal income (PCPI) of $12,923. This PCPI ranked 49th in the United States and was 73 percent of the national average ($17,592). The 1990 PCPI reflected an increase of 5.5 percent from 1988. The 1988-89 national change was 6.6 percent.

In 1990, Louisiana had a total personal income (TPI) of $56,636,191*. This TPI ranked 23rd in the United States and accounted for 1.3 percent of the national total. The 1990 TPI reflected an increase of 4.9 percent from 1988. The 1988-89 national change was 7.6 percent.

Total personal income (TPI) includes the earnings (wages and salaries, other labor income, and proprietors' income); dividends, interest, and rent; and transfer payments received by the residents of Louisiana. In 1990, earnings were 65.9 percent of TPI; dividends, interest, and rent were 16.0 percent; and transfer payments were 18.1 percent. From 1988 to 1990, earnings increased 3.1 percent; dividends, interest, and rent increased 13.4 percent; and transfer payments increased 4.3 percent.

Earnings of persons employed in Louisiana increased from $38,952,011* in 1988 to $40,296,989* in 1990, an increase of 3.5 percent. The largest industries in 1990 were services, which accounted for 25.6 percent of earnings; state and local government, 12.4 percent; retail trade, 9.6 percent; and non-durable goods manufacturing, 8.8 percent. Of the industries that accounted for at least 5 percent of earnings in 1990, the slowest growing from 1988 to 1990 was mining (5.3 percent of earnings in 1990), which declined 2.4 percent; the fastest was services, which increased 8.4 percent.

*All income estimates with the exception of PCPI are in thousands of dollars.

CONSUMER PRICE INDEX

The Consumer Price Index, sometimes called the "Cost of Living Index" is a monthly measure of the average change in prices in a fixed quantity of goods and services. Prices are gathered from 85 areas across the country. The years 1982-84 are used as the base period. While the CPI may provide a broad outline of price fluctuations, it cannot reflect individual buying trends or regional experiences.

SECTION VIII
POVERTY GUIDELINES

CHARACTERISTICS OF THE ECONOMICALLY DISADVANTAGED

An economically disadvantaged person is one who is a member of a family which receives cash welfare payments or whose annual income in relation to family size and location does not exceed the established poverty levels listed below. As of April, 1991.

FAMILY SIZE	POVERTY GUIDELINE
1	$ 6,620
2	8,880
3	11,140
4	13,400
5	15,660
6	17,920
7	20,180
8	22,440

For family units with more than 8 members, add $2,260 for each additional member.

BARRIERS TO EMPLOYMENT OF THE ECONOMICALLY DISADVANTAGED

Barriers to employment often hinder several groups of people from finding and obtaining employment. Groups who have these special problems often experience an unemployment rate higher than the rest of the labor force.

Educational deficiencies are the greatest barrier to employment of the disadvantaged. The lack of education and specific skills that are in demand can cause tremendous difficulties in obtaining employment.

Lack of training or actual job experience is also a major barrier to employment. Even thought a person may have an adequate education, he may lack the training or experience necessary to perform a specific job.

Poor health is a very common problem that can affect employability. If a person is seriously handicapped, fining suitable employment and arranging transportation to it may be very difficult. Also, a worker is sometimes forced to remain at home or limit their work schedule to care for an ill or disabled family member.

Problems concerning transportation can be enormous for the disadvantaged. The rising cost of automobiles and gasoline have attributed to the problem. Also, the price of public transportation has increased in some areas and some lines and schedules have been discontinued, making fewer transportation alternatives available for many of the disadvantaged.

Other prevalent problems include police records, rigid hiring practices by employers, child care, and personal problems.

SECTION IX
JOB TRAINING PARTNERSHIP ACT (JTPA)

JOB TRAINING PARTNERSHIP ACT

The Job Training Partnership Act (Public Law 97-300-Oct. 13, 1982) is the nation's major employment incentive program. The purpose of this Act is to establish programs to prepare youth and unskilled adults for entry into the labor force and to afford job training to those economically disadvantaged individuals and other individuals facing serious barriers to employment, who are in special need of such training to obtain productive employment.

Under the Job Training Partnership Act, many responsibilities formerly carried out by the Federal Government devolved to States and local labor markets. The governor has approval authority over locally-developed plans, and is responsible for monitoring local program compliance with the Act. In addition, a new public\private partnership is created to plan and design training programs as well as to deliver training and other services.

SERVICE DELIVERY AREAS, designated by the governor, based upon recommendations of the State Job Training Coordinating Council, deliver services under the Act. Eighteen of these areas, have been designated in Louisiana. Planning functions of both the Governor's representatives and the service delivery areas require considerable statistical information including the characteristics of populations in the respective areas.

In the case of labor force data, unrounded figures have been shown since allocation procedures require their use rather than the normally published rounded information.

SECTION XI
EXPLANATORY NOTES

EXPLANATORY MATERIAL

The information presented in this document was compiled by the LA Department of Employment and Training, affiliated with the U. S. Department of Labor.

An explanation of some of the terminology used in this report follows:

LABOR AREA: A labor area is a geographical area consisting of a central city or cities and the surrounding territory in which there is a concentration of economic activity and in which workers can usually change jobs without changing their residence.

CIVILIAN LABOR FORCE: The civilian labor force represents the sum of the employed (exclusive of the Armed Forces), the unemployed, and persons involved in labor-management disputes.

EMPLOYMENT: Employment estimates are developed mainly from a sample of establishments which report regularly on their employment. These estimates are periodically compared with comprehensive data on employment obtained from tax records, which provide benchmarks for the various non-agricultural industries. Appropriate adjustments are made as needed.

NONAGRICULTURAL WAGE AND SALARY EMPLOYMENT: Nonagricultural Wage & Salary Employment refers only to employees on establishment payrolls during the sample week in each month (this week always includes the 12th of the month) and excludes self-employed, unpaid family workers, and workers involved in labor-management disputes.

ALL OTHER NONAGRICULTUAL EMPLOYMENT: This category includes persons who work in non-farm industries that are not reported on payrolls, such as self-employed workers, domestic workers in private households, and unpaid family workers.

UNEMPLOYMENT: Unemployment data included in this report is conceptually comparable with that released by the United States Department of Labor each month for the country as a whole. The unemployment estimates include all workers not at work but actually seeking work. Unemployed workers are counted by their place of residence. The unemployment rate represents the number of unemployed as a percent of the civilian labor force.

APPLICANTS: Applicants are individuals who are registered with the local Job Service Office and are reasonably representative of the available worker supply in most occupational categories and for most sections of the area.

PLACEMENTS: Placements occur when a local Job Service Office, which has an employer job order, refers a qualified applicant to the employer and verifies the fact that the applicant has been hired by the employer.
